Gentlemen:—The confidence I have in Perry Davis' Pain Killer as a remedy for Colds. Coughs. Burns Sprains, and Rheumatism, for the cure of which have successfully used it. induces me to cheerfully recommer dits virtues to others.

A few months ago I had recourse to it to destroy a felon; although I had never heard of its being used for that purpose; but having suffered intensely from a former one, and having no other remedy at hand, I applied the Pain Killer freels for about fitteen minutes at evening, and repeated the application very briefly the next morning, which entirely destroyed the felon, and increased my confidence in the utility of the remedy.

The following items show how much an inefficient General can injure a cause and disappoint a public expectation. Thurlow Weed, in the Albany Journal, thus sums up Fremont's case:

When Gen. Fremont reached St. Louis he took as his headquarters a house for which the government is paying $6,000 a year.

He surrounded himself with a numerous staff, none of whom were residents of Missouri; rganizing simultaneously, a body guard coning of nearly three hundred horsemen through which access to the Chief is as difficult as the approach to a Monarch in the darkest ages of despotism.

Important from Washington-Resignation of Lieut. Gen. Scott

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. The following letter from Lieut. Gen. Scott was received by the President on Thursday

"HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY "WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 31, '61.

The Hon. S. Cameron, Secretary of War : "SIR: For more than three years I have been unable, from a hurt, to mount a horse or walk more than a few paces at a time, and that with much pain. Other and new infirm-ities—dropsy and vertigo—admonish me that a repose of mind and body, with the appliances of surgery and medicine, are necessary to add a little more to a life already protracted much beyond the usual span of man. It is under such circumstances, made doubly painful by the unnatural and unjust rebellion now raging in the Southern States of our so late prosperous and happy Union, that I am comelled to request that my name be placed on the list of army officers retired from active service. As this request is founded on an ab-solute right granted by a recent act of Congress, I am entirely at liberty to say, that it is with deep regret that I withdraw myself, in these momentous times, from the orders of a President who has treated me with distinguished kindness and courtesy; whom I know, ipon much personal intercourse, to be patriotwithout sectional partialities or prejudices; o be highly conscientious in the performance perseverance. Trouble at Boonville.

We hear from Boonville that an unfortunate state of affairs exists there, between the Home Guards and Capt. Powell, United States Army, and Quartermaster. On Saturday last, information having been received by Capt. Powell, that Capt. Epstein had been making improper use of the Commissary's stores entrusted to him for the use of his command, by selling them to merchants and others, he determined upon his arrest, and the order was executed. Capt. Epstein was taken to Capt. Powell's quarters. On Sunday morning Capt. Powell resolved upon an examination of the quarters occupied by Capt. Epstein, with a view to ascertain the amount of the depredations, if any, upon the United States stores, and for that purpose marched ment, brigade, and division, as are allowed in stationed. On arriving there he found one hundred and fifty of the Home Guards drawn of the United States of the same rank and grade. up to receive him. There was a good deal of When brigades and divisions are formed out of excitement among them, a meeting having the troops so raised, they shall be officered accordbeen held in the morning, and a passed to rescue Capt. Epstein. Capt. Powell advanced to the gate and demanded admission. Capt. Keiser was in command of the Home Guard, about one hundred and fifty in number, and had ordered them to load their muskets. After some colloquy between the two officers, Capt. Keiser ordered his men to two officers, Capt. Keiser ordered his men to fire on Capt. Powell, and thirty or forty did fire, but miraculous as it may seem, not one citizens of this State to render obedience fire, but miraculous as it may seem, not one of the balls inflicted any injury upon him— one grazed his head, and others passed through his clothing. Capt. Powell used his sword in throwing aside the muskets leveled at him by those directly in front, and to their closeess to each other he is indebted for his life. Two or three of the Federal troops were wounded by the firing of the Home Guards. Capt. Powell's guard, seeing the folly of contending with such unequal odds, retreated, and he returned to his quarters. It is proper to remark, that Capt. Epstein denies utterly the charges against him, while the other party professes his ability to substantiate them. The whole matter, as well with regard to a question of rank pending between them, as to the difficulties to which we have referred, has been submitted to headquarters.

The Strength of Manassas. The Louisville Journal has the following in reference to this stronghold of rebellion: To attack the Confederates forces at Manassas with a vast army of even the best troops in the world would be a mighty undertaking. The Richmond papers boast that, in that stronghold, a hundred men can successfully resist and repel a thousand. Perhaps they could if the attack were as rash and tate as some of our Eastern civilians evidently think that it ought to be. The greatest Southern Generals and civil engineers selected Manassas as the strongest position by nature in Virginia, and such it undoubtedly was. For six months they have, with all possible resources at their command, been adding to its natural strength by all the modes of fication known to military science. From the two thousand heavy cannon, many of them of monstrous size, seized by the Con federates in the Gosport Navy-Yard, and from the many hundreds of columbiads and guns of all calibres manufactured at the Tredegar Works in Richmond, they have received just as many and just such pieces of artillery as they could plant to advantage. If they wanted fifteen hundred pieces of heavy artillery to be placed in a hundred batteries, they have had them and placed them according to their pleasure. At several points of necessary approach to their main positions, they have placed mines of gunpowder to be sprung at any moment and carry horrible aughter among their assailants. facts, and, although thoughtless editors, writing to create a sensation, may ignore them, he commanders of our armies will scarcely We have confidence, strong confidence,
